

THIS ANCHOR DIDN'T finish atop these stone bricks because some sea captain had one too many and steered his boat the wrong way. Rather it was recovered off Royal Roads in 1962, restored by Pacific

Naval Laboratories, adopted by the Maritime Museum and now serves as a singpost for the offices and shops in Bastion Square.

—Ellis Shipman Photo