

Public Open House Information Session

T/C SEPT 18/04 PAGE C-2

Victoria's Stores Building and Wharf have been part of Victoria's scenic inner harbour for nearly a century.

In 1912, the building stored linens for the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Today, the space sits empty.

The Provincial Capital Commission is looking for tenants that can fill the unique potential of the building and wharf and revive it as part of the historic urban fabric of Victoria's Inner Harbour.

The public are invited to an information session with staff from the Provincial Capital Commission, KPMG and the City of Victoria.

Thursday, September 23, 4pm – 7pm

James Bay New Horizons Centre – room 5

234 Menzies Street
